Ex-US presidential candidate McGovern dies at 90

WASHINGTON (AFP) - Former US senator George McGovern, a liberal icon who vowed to end the Vietnam War but lost a landslide presidential election to Richard Nixon in 1972, died early yesterday at the age of 90.

The three-term senator, a former World War II bomber pilot, was credited with bringing women, youths and minorities into the Democratic Party in a broad-based White House campaign that founders after revelations of his running mate's battle with mental illness.

In 1994, his daughter Terry, a mother of two who had long suffered from alcoholism, froze to death when she passed out in a Wisconsin snowbank.

He had four other children with Eleanor, his wife of 63 years, who died in 2007.

FADA observing Red Ribbon Week 2012 with daily events

ORANJESTAD -- Fundacion Anti Drogas Aruba (F.A.D.A.) the island foundation dedicated to prevention of substance abuse, inaugurated their Red Ribbon Week 2012 activities yesterday morning with a special Mass at the Virgin of Fatima Church in Dakota.

When announcing the upcoming schedule at FADA headquarters, Shermine Maduro explained the history and significance of Red Ribbon Week. It is the oldest and largest drug prevention campaign in the United States, which F.A.D.A. felt worthy of conducting on Aruba. "Red Ribbon Week offers commun-ties and individuals to take a stand for the hopes and dreams of our children. We can all commit to drug prevention and education and make a personal commitment to live drug free lives. Our ultimate goal is a drug free Aruba. This year's theme is "A better me is drug free."

Red Ribbon Week also commemorates the personal sacrifice of DEA agent Enrique "Kiki" Camarena. Born in 1947 in a shack in Mexico with nothing more than a dirt floor, he observed the negative influence of local drug lords. Determined to "make a difference," he put himself through college to become a police officer, joined the DEA and eventually work undercover.

month later in a shallow grave, tortured to death.

Within weeks of his death in March of 1985, Camarena's Congressman, Duncan Hunter, and high school friend Henry Lozano, launched Camarena Clubs in Imperial Valley, California, Camarena's home. Hundreds of club members pledged to lead drug-free lives to honor the sacrifices made by Camarena and others on behalf of all Americans. These coalitions began to wear red badges of red stain ribbons, to his memory. The Red Ribbon Week campaign emerged from the efforts of these clubs and coalitions.

Census Bureau closed today!

ORANJESTAD -- The Aruba Census Bureau has been working diligently on improving the service to the general public. They have made several changes and have improved several aspects of the different processes in this important government department.

One important improvement is the connection which now exists between the main head office and the various auxiliary offices located around the island. These auxiliary offices now offer services that were previously unavailable.

The bureau is now embarking on a modernization of their digital infrastructure, the system for preparing and issuing passports as well as changes in the interior of the central office.

Work on these changes began this past weekend and will continue throughout the day today, Monday. Hence, the bureau will be closed all day today, Monday, October 22nd to continue and complete the required work. The bureau will be reopened tomorrow, Tuesday and will remain open for the week but will close to the public again on Friday, October 26 for the entire weekend including Monday, October 29th. In the month of November, the bureau will be closed, Friday the 2nd and Monday the 5th. The work should be completed by November 5th. However, the bureau will be closed again on Monday, November 9th for the last time. This last closing date will be for the training of their employees as they will be working with brand new equipment.

During an interview with director of the Census Bureau, Sharin Luidens, she explained how complex the work is that they will be embarking on. The process involves various stakeholders as the bureau has connections with a number of government departments on the island, as well as with the Netherlands. It is expected that at the end of the modernization, they will be able to offer a more effective, efficient and faster service in compliance with the requirements of these modern times.

Sharin Luidens expressed her appreciation and gratitude to all those involved in the work, to mention, the Public Works Department, Fondo di Desaroyo Arubano, Information and Automation, and the Ministry of General Affairs. Luidens also expressed her appreciation for the understanding and patience of clients.

CAMACURI-- Aruba Bank is very proud of being able to offer all of its clients a way to manage their bank accounts easily, with total efficiency, by launching its 24/7 Banking Services. Aruba Bank understand that nowadays, time is limited, and clients are busy, which is why it has introduced a completely new concept that provides total freedom to clients, giving them more time to do other things, instead of personally visiting the bank.

Imagine you now may take care of all of your banking needs 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and enjoy free access to Aruba Bank's banking services any time.

The new services now available are the following: ABO and ABO Mobile, which allow you to perform bank transactions from your mobile phone or computer.

Additionally, Text Banking allows clients to receive bank statements via SMS 7777. With Text Banking, you can choose any service you like: block your current or savings account, receive information from the credit card help desk, check the balance of your current or savings accounts, receive your new balance after making a payment on a loan, check your credit card balance, get a list of all of Aruba Bank's ATMs and their locations, receive valuable tips, fill out Online Applications to apply for a savings account, as well as loan account or credit card account online. Aruba Bank's Internet Savings allows you to open and manage your savings account online. And most importantly -- which will surely make many people happy -- the Customer Service desk at the Camacuri Branch will also be open on Saturdays, with offices open from 9:00 am to 1:00 pm. You are welcome to stop by and perform all of your financial transactions, with the exception of teller services.

These new services are completely free, simple to use and help you stay up to date on all your banking needs, with guaranteed security and maximum convenience. This is another way that Aruba Bank makes its slogan come to life. The bank truly understands all of its clients and wants to contribute to making their lives easier.

ORANJESTAD - On October 18, 2012 the Judge in First Instance in Aruba ruled in the case an employee of the Aruba Airport Authority N.V. ("AAA") started against his employer AAA in order to retract a suspension without pay.

Back in July of this year the employee at hand on several occasions called upon taxi drivers not to sign an agreement with AAA/his employer about the use of certain facilities at the airport.

The employee at hand was told by his employer that he should cease these actions as they were not deemed to be in the best interest of his employer and was consequently suspended without pay as he continued with his actions.

FADA observing Red Ribbon Week 2012 ...

John van der Biezen and Shermine Maduro

FADA Red Ribbon Week events continue tomorrow with Governor Fredis Refunjol and Aruba's Ministers receiving their red ribbons at their offices. On Wednesday morning, red ribbons will be pinned on all members of parliament. Thursday there will be a soccer game at between the Eliezer y Centro Colorado rehab centers in Piedra Plat at 3:00 PM.

Friday afternoon from 2:00 to 6:00 PM there will be a free exposition at the YMCA in Dakota. All ages are invited to obtain information and become acquainted with groups that address various issues detrimental to healthy and productive home and community life. Participating organizations include: White-Yellow Cross Aruba, Red Cross, Centro Colorado, Centro Dakota, Halfwayhome, Foundation Aliansa Nobo, Eliezer, Victory Outreach, Youth Parliament, Foundation for our Children, Foundation Guia Mi, Foundation Respetami, Family Planning, Da Vinci Academy, Tienda di Educacion, Foundation Adopt An Adict and Teen Challenge. This is the grand finale of Red Ribbon Week. Snacks and non-alcoholic beverages will be on sale, and it will be an informative and entertaining afternoon, explained John van der Biezen.

On October 31, FADA is hosting a symposium with guest speakers Theo Orman and Helen Guda.

Jeanira Kock-Wernet reminds the public that this year they are conducting a program which engage island youth. Youngsters have been challenged to form groups sponsored by an organization. They have entries from schools, churches, sport groups, and community center; any organization that would benefit from the substantial cash prizes being awarded. Youngsters are required to create a skit, musical number, presentation or video. These will be aired at the Cas di Cultura in Oranjestad on Monday, December 10. The cash award will be won for the organization they represent.

Tickets to the final event, which will assist the foundation in the continuing battle against substance abuse, can be purchased at the FADA offices at Campanastraat #5 in Tarabana. For more information on any drug question or problem, contact them at telephone 583-2999, or visit their website, <http://www.fundaciontidroga.org>.

Beer Towers debut at Dushi Bagels during inaugural Oktoberfest

Carina demonstrates the beer tower

It was a fun fest at Dushi Bagels/Burgers & Burgers on Friday evening, October 19, as owners Fernando and Carina proved you can never have too much beer. The popular restaurant occupying a cozy corner of the Playa Linda arcade welcomed frequent visitors to celebrate an Aruban version of the much beloved fall festival. It was an opportunity for some all-out fun and to introduce their new Dushi Bagels Beer Tower, a verified hit that will stay on all through the year.

The inaugural Oktoberfest featured a unique menu of bratwurst and local sausage or a special version of their famous burger. Patrons could take advantage of the $2 draft beer special or get their own beer tower at their table. Two liters are kept icy cold through the special construction, with a fun way to have beer on tap at your fingertips.

The pace was kept lively with music from NutzBeatz DJ's on the go. All agreed, it was a convivial and delightful night. Carina and Fernando were eminently pleased by the reception and ambiance created by this special night, and promised that next year will be even bigger and better!

Dutch MPs: independence is an issue for Curaçao itself

THE HAGUE -- A large majority of Dutch MPs claim they would have no objections if the former Dutch colony of Curaçao opts to break away from the Netherlands altogether, according to media reports over the weekend.

The Caribbean island has just staged elections this past Friday. The primary platform of the party to win the greatest majority of votes is full independence from The Hague.

Party spokesmen told news agency ANP they will not object if Helmin Wiels, leader of winning party Sovereign People, holds a referendum on independence.

Sovereign People won 23% of the vote while the Movement for the Future of Curacao, led by former Prime Minister Gerrit Schotte won 21%. Both parties will have five seats in parliament and the rest will be divided between six other parties. This is likely to dampen Sovereign People's efforts to win full independence even if it can form a government.

Labor spokesman Martijn van Dam said "the party will respect the islanders' choice" but he thinks "it will be hard for Curaçao to stand on its own two feet."

In July, Home Affairs Minister Liesbeth Spies told parliament Curaçao's 2012 budget has a deficit of 153m Curacao guilders, of which nearly 100 million guilders is needed to cover debts from previous years.

Caribbean disturbance likely to be next storm

A disturbance in the Central Caribbean likely will become the season's next tropical depression or storm. The next named storm will be Sandy.

As of late yesterday afternoon, the National Hurricane Center gave it a 70 percent chance of developing into a tropical cyclone over the next two days.

For now, it is moving slowly west, but models predict it will make a sharp turn to the northeast by Wednesday and arrive over the southern Bahamas on Thursday, crossing Cuba along the way.

Three dead in US day spa shooting

CHICAGO (AFP) - Three people were killed and four others injured after a gunman burst into a day spa in the midwestern US state of Wisconsin and opened fire yesterday, police said.

The man also left behind what appears to be an improvised explosive device, which has prevented police from searching the entire two-story building in Brookfield, a suburb of Milwaukee, police chief Daniel Tushaus told reporters.

"Our entire operation is focused on locating the suspect," Tushaus said, describing the situation as "fluid."

Tushaus provided few details on the motives of 45-year-old suspect Radcliffe Haugh-

ton, but local media reported that he was in the midst of an ugly divorce from his wife, who worked at the Azana spa.

The woman had gotten a judge to issue an order of protection banning Haughton from contacting her and ordering him to hand in his guns, TMJ4 News reported.

The station said police had surrounded his home in the nearby suburb of Brown Deer.

The four other victims are not believed to be critically hurt. However, one woman who was shot in the neck may be around six months pregnant, the station reported.

The hospital treating the victims was on lockdown until the shooter is caught, a spokeswoman said.

The White House said President Barack Obama had been briefed about the incident, adding: "The president and first lady's thoughts and prayers are with the victims of this horrible shooting and their families."

US and Iran deny any deal for bilateral nuclear talks

WASHINGTON (AFP) - Iran and the United States both denied any deal had been reached for one-on-one nuclear talks, as the New York Times has reported -- even though the White House has said it was open to such a dialogue.

The report from the top US newspaper -- published late Saturday and immediately refuted by Washington and Tehran -- comes at a key point in the US presidential campaign, with incumbent Barack Obama set to face Republican rival Mitt Romney today in their last of three debates, this one focused on foreign policy.

Iran and its controversial nuclear program will certainly be a top issue for whoever wins the White House following the November 6 vote.

When asked yesterday about the New York Times report, Iranian Foreign Affairs Minister Ali Akbar Salehi said: "We are not involved in such a thing right now."

In Washington, White House National Security Council spokesman Tommy Vietor said "it's not true that the United States and Iran have agreed to one-on-one talks or any meeting after the American elections."

Vietor also emphasized that Obama has "made clear that he will prevent Iran from getting a nuclear weapon."

Germany: More than 100 far-right suspects at large

BERLIN (AFP) - The German government estimates that more than 100 rightwing extremists who have been charged with crimes are still at large, Interior Minister Hans-Peter Friedrich told a Sunday newspaper.

Friedrich said that despite efforts to crack down on extremism in the wake of a botched probe of serial killings blamed on neo-Nazis, dozens of suspects had apparently slipped through the authorities' fingers.

"The Federal Crime Office estimates that as of mid-September, 110 rightwing extremists with outstanding arrest warrants have gone underground," he said.

It emerged last November that a far-right trio calling itself the National Socialist Underground (NSU) was likely behind the killings of 10 people,

Ecuador ambassador: Britain acted like empire over Assange

LONDON (AFP) - Britain behaved like it was still an empire in its threat to raid Ecuador's embassy and arrest WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange, the Ecuadoran ambassador to London said in an interview broadcast yesterday.

Ana Alban told BBC radio that the threat, made in August just before Ecuador granted asylum to Australian-born Assange, was "the biggest mistake" committed by Britain since she became ambassador.

Former computer hacker Assange, 41, walked into the London embassy on June 19 claiming asylum in a bid to mainly Turkish-born shopkeepers, throughout Germany between 2000 and 2007.

The case broke open only when two members of the NSU were found dead in an apparent suicide pact in the eastern city of Zwickau and the other, a woman, turned herself in.

Investigators initially focused their probe on criminal elements in the Turkish community, in a case marked by repeated missteps and allegations of a cover-up.

A parliamentary committee is investigating the affair and the government has pledged a root-and-branch reform of the security services.

Friedrich said he did not believe there were neo-Nazi killers currently on the loose but warned of the danger the extremists posed.

Ecuador ambassador: Britain acted like empire over Assange

avoid extradition to Sweden, where he faces questioning over alleged rape and sexual assault.

British officials angered Ecuador in August by suggesting in a letter that they could ultimately withdraw diplomatic status from the embassy and enter it to arrest Assange, though they have not done so.

Ecuador granted Assange asylum on August 16 but Britain refuses to grant him safe passage out of the country, and he remains holed up in the embassy with the two countries in a diplomatic stalemate.

NGO: Children at Iraq prison 'future time bomb'

BAGHDAD (AFP) - Some 21 children living with their mothers in a Baghdad women's prison represent a potential "time bomb," an Iraqi rights group warned yesterday in a report that also noted claims of rape and torture.

The Hammurabi Humanitarian Organisation, headed by former migration minister Pascal Wardeh, also detailed conditions at the women's prison in Kadhimiyah, north Baghdad, in which some prisoners suffered physical assault.

It said 21 children were living with their mothers in the detention facility, "suffering a punishment without committing any crime."

"The state must find the means to deal with such cases inside the prison," the report said, noting that the infants "were just spending time with their mothers, listening to their stories."

The rights group warned that this made the children "a time bomb for the future."

It said that it made a visit to the prison on September 20, along with officials from Iraq's human rights ministry. The report was handed to President Jalal Talabani and the ministry itself.

A total of 414 detainees were being held in the jail, varying in age from 20 to 65. Among the inmates were 18 women sentenced to death.

The NGO said that prisoners complained of "different forms of torture, such as the use of electricity, punching, and rape during the investigation."

It quoted an unidentified judge as saying that there were "violations throughout the investigation process," recommending that female security officers escort women prisoners to reduce the chance of abuse.

International human rights groups have on several occasions complained of persistent torture at Iraqi prisons being used to extract confessions from detainees, and also of the continued use of secret jails.

AFP photo shows local people cleaning up a mud-covered street with shovels in the south-western town of Lourdes. A massive clean-up was under way in the French pilgrimage town of Lourdes yesterday as fire-fighters pumped water from its famed Catholic sanctuaries after flooding forced the evacuation of hundreds of pilgrims. ## Trial in absentia of US Copts opens in Egypt

CAIRO (AFP) - The trial in absentia of seven US-based Egyptian Copts and a US pastor opened yesterday, in which the defendants are accused of involvement in an anti-Islam film that sparked violent clashes worldwide.

The defendants -- seven Copts and Florida pastor Terry Jones who is said to have promoted the film -- are based in the United States, according to the official MENA news agency.

The prosecution said the accused had "abused religion to propagate extremist ideas with the aim of inciting sectarianism, insulting the Islamic religion, harming national unity and social peace."

The Cairo criminal court after a brief hearing adjourned the trial to November 25.

The film, believed to have been produced by a small group of extremist Christian Americans, last month sparked furious protests outside US embassies and other American symbols in at least 20 countries, including Egypt.

The crude low-budget production mocks Islam and portrays the Prophet Mohammed as immoral and violent, while touching on themes of homosexuality and paedophilia.

Several cast members say they were duped into acting in the amateurish film, which has been linked to a non-profit group called Media for Christ, and was apparently produced

Bullying Hurts; Lets Stop It Now!

--In what seems to be a horrible and growing trend, A Canadian teenager last week killed herself after being bullied online for more than a year.

Unfortunately, this is just the latest in a growing list of bullied teenagers who kill themselves after being bullied and humiliated for any reason.

And there's a growing body of evidence that shows bullying doesn't always end when middle or high school does. Adult and workplace bullying may not be as well known as cyberbullying, child, or teenage bullying, but it's a problem that's estimated to afflict of adults as well.

Bullying can occur in any context in which human beings interact with each other. This includes school, church, family, the workplace, home, and neighborhoods.

If you are or someone you know is being bullied, you don't have to suffer in silence, says Andrea Bonior, Ph.D., a licensed psychologist. In honor of National Bullying Awareness Month, she offers five tips to help you fight back:

1. Assess the situation. If this is at work, might you need to make a formal complaint? Might there be legal involvement needed? If this is college, might you need a room switch? Make a list of options, and use supports that are in place to help you.

2. Reach out to allies. Are there trusted friends or coworkers that you can confide in? Are there family members who are good at listening? Are there mutual friends who can have your back as you plan to stand up to yourself? Assemble your army; there is strength in numbers.

3. Make a plan. Take time to determine the best course of action. If you are lodging a complaint or confronting the person, rally your defenses, choose your words carefully, and plan the best time to take action. The better prepared you are, the more effective your action will be.

4. Remember your strength. Dig deep to make a list of the things you like about yourself, and remind yourself of them like a mantra. Building up your emotional defenses will help you remember why you deserve better and keep you being assertive.

5. Nourish yourself. Reduce your stress by eating well, getting enough sleep, and engaging in activities that are good for you. From listening to music to journaling to exercise to yoga to losing yourself in a good book, you can reduce the effects that bullies have by putting yourself first.

Bullying ranges from simple one-on-one bullying to more complex bullying in which the bully may have one or more "lieutenants" who may seem to be willing to assist the primary bully in his or her bullying activities.

Educate yourself about it and take a stand against bullying!.

Mobile phones can cause brain tumours, court rules.

ROME- The Italian Supreme Court has ruled there is a causal link between mobile phone use and brain tumors in a landmark case. The ruling has set a legal precedent that could potentially trigger a deluge of lawsuits.

Innocente Marcolini, a 60-year-old retired businessman argued that the excessive use of his mobile phone for around six hours every day for 12 years caused a benign brain tumor that left his face partially paralyzed.

The Italian court ruled in the businessman's favor, conceding that there is a "causal link" between phone use and the development of the tumor.

British scientists have claimed there is insufficient evidence to prove any link to mobiles.

But the respected oncologist and professor of environmental mutagenesis Angelo Gino Levis gave evidence for Mr Marcolini — along with neurosurgeon Dr Giuseppe Grasso.

They said electromagnetic radiation emitted by mobile and cordless phones can damage cells, making tumors more likely.

Prof Levis told The Sun: "The court decision is extremely important. It finally officially recognises the link.

Mr Marcolini's tumor was discovered in the trigeminal nerve — close to where the phone touched his head.

It is non-cancerous but threatened to kill him as it spread to the carotid artery, the major vessel carrying blood to his brain.

His face was left paralysed and he takes daily morphine for pain.

The World Health Organisation urged limits on mobile use last year, calling them a Class B carcinogen.

Sci-Tech*Brazilian newspapers pull out of Google News

SAO PAULO Brazil's National Association of Newspapers says all 154 members had followed its recommendation to ban the search engine aggregator from using their content.

The papers say Google News refused to pay for content and was driving traffic away from their websites.

Google, naturally, disagrees and says it helped Brazilian news sites reach a larger audience than they normally would have. The AJN says it would only consider returning to Google News if Google pays each news outlet to reuse their headlines. Google likened such a setup to, "taxing a taxi driver for taking tourists to eat at a particular restaurant."

Google News had previously carried the title of the news article and the first line of the article in a bid to entice readers to click through.

Brazil is not the first country to demand payment from Google for printing headlines from the press (in fact, the AJN has been recommending its members opt out of Google News for several months now). France is currently at odds with Google over the very same issue. While Google News currently won't show anything from outlets like O Globo and O Estado de Sao Paulo, users can still access the websites through a regular Google search.

Maybe Google should start charging them for their listings in that, rather than sending them so much free traffic.

HONG KONG (AFP) - Hong Kong customs officers seized almost four tonnes of ivory worth about $3.4 million, hidden in shipments from Kenya and Tanzania, officials said. The 1,209 pieces of raw ivory tusk and a small number of ivory ornaments were discovered in two containers marked "plastic scrap" and "roscoco beans", shipped to Hong Kong earlier this week, a customs official said. The smuggled ivory, weighing 3.81 tonnes (8,400 pounds) -- Hong Kong's largest ever seizure -- was found hidden among bags of plastic scraps and beans by customs officers acting on a tip-off from counterparts in mainland China. The international trade in elephant ivory, with rare exceptions, has been outlawed since 1989 after elephant populations in Africa dropped from millions in the mid-20th century to some 600,000 by the end of the 1980s. Africa is home to an estimated 472,000 elephants whose survival is threatened by poaching, illegal game hunting and habitat loss.

Muslim pilgrims flood Mecca for hajj

MECCA, Saudi Arabia (AFP) - Muslim pilgrims have been descending in droves on Mecca for the hajj, the world's largest annual gathering which Saudi Arabia insists will not be affected by instability shaking the region. Walking in groups, mostly led by guides with their countries' flags printed on their garments, faithful men and women have poured into Mecca to perform the minor pilgrimage, or umrah, ahead of the major hajj rituals. Officials say the main events, which begin Wednesday, are expected to attract more than two million devotees from across the world. Thursday marks the most important day, when all pilgrims assemble in the Arafat plain outside Mecca. The pilgrimage ends after Eid al-Adha, or the Feast of Sacrifice, which will be celebrated on Friday. The hajj is one of the five pillars of Islam that every capable Muslim must perform at least once in lifetime.

eBay pays £1.2m in British taxes on sales of £800m

LONDON (AFP) - Online auction giant eBay paid only £1.2 million ($1.92 million, 1.47 million euros) in tax to the British government despite generating £800 million in sales in the country, the Sunday Times reported.

The auction site denied any wrongdoing.

According to the Sunday Times report, the internet firm notched up sales of £789 million during 2010 at its four British subsidiaries, generating an estimated profit of £181 million.

At the current rate of corporation tax, £51 million would be owed to the exchequer, but instead it received £1.2m, the report said.

The auction site told the BBC: "eBay in Europe works with tax authorities and complies fully with all applicable tax laws and regimes - including national, EU, and internationally recognised OECD rules."

The report comes days after it emerged that coffee chain Starbucks shifted profits from its £398 million worth of UK sales to its foreign subsidiaries in order to avoid paying any corporation tax.

Europe and China don't need a trade war

BRUSSELS - The European Union will not back down from protecting its industries against Chinese competition it sees as unfair, but mutual self-interest will prevent a damaging trade war, the EU's trade chief Karel De Gucht said.

Disputes with Beijing have taken on a bigger scale in recent months and Brussels brought its biggest ever trade case against Beijing in September after European companies accused China of dumping solar panels in Europe.

SATURDAY'S Crossword Answer

The EU is also gathering evidence to see whether Chinese telecoms companies Huawei Technologies and ZTE are dumping or receiving illegal subsidies.

"We are not going to shy away from what we have to do," De Gucht said.

"But we are not interested in escalating tensions. I believe that the Chinese also realize that this has to be kept within limits," he said from his office in the European Commission.

The growing trade spats come at a dangerous time. Europe's economy is hardly growing and the continent is suffering from record unemployment, while China's much-faster growth is cooling. Both downturns raise the specter of social instability.

Trade between China and the European Union has doubled since 2003, rising to 428 billion euros ($558 billion) in 2011, making the EU China's biggest trading partner. China is the second biggest destination for European goods after the United States.

Swiss banks closing U.S. accounts

BERN -- Swiss bankers say they are restricting or denying service to "the few American clients" they have because compliance with new U.S. tax law is cost-prohibitive.

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, passed in 2009 and to be phased in over the next several years, has made working with U.S. clients "evermore elaborate," said a spokesman from the bank Postfinance.

"It's simply not economical to maintain a team of experts to ensure compliance for the few American clients that we have," the spokesman said.

The Wall Street Journal reported Saturday that expatriates in Switzerland are having trouble finding financial services and some banks are telling their U.S. clients to take their business elsewhere.

Scott Schmitt, 50, a photographer living in Switzerland, said the new law that prompted his bank to request he close out his account "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Instead, Schmitt applied for Swiss citizenship and turned in his U.S. passport.

"I have nothing to hide, but my heart is here, my business is here, and my life is here," Schmitt told the Journal.

U.S. officials said those wishing to disclaim their U.S. citizenship must prove they have been in compliance with tax laws for five years before they renounce. Otherwise, authorities can cancel or revoke the permission to renounce citizenship.

"In practice, people should not assume they'll never have to deal with the United States again," said Scott Michel, an attorney in Washington.

"Foreign tax evasion is a drain on the federal budget worth tens of billions of dollars, and it puts an unfair burden on law-abiding American taxpayers to fill that gap," said an aide to Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., the Senate Finance Committee chairman and sponsor of the bill known as Fatca.

Pope names first Native American saint

VATICAN CITY (AFP) - Pope Benedict XVI named seven new saints on Sunday, including the first Native American, praising their "heroic courage" as the Catholic Church seeks to counter a rising tide of secularism in the West.

Kateri Tekakwitha, known as "Lily of the Mohawks", who for centuries has been a symbol of hope for the long-oppressed American Indians, was canonised in a lavish ceremony in St Peter's Square that followed her beatification in 1980 by the late pope John Paul II.

Pope Benedict delivered a homily praising all seven new saints, saying they "lived their lives in total consecration to God and in generous service to their brothers".

About 80,000 faithful from numerous countries, including American Indians, gathered on the square outside St. Peter's Basilica, which was decked with portraits of those being canonised.

The other new saints include a French missionary to Madagascar, a young Philippine missionary who died at the age of 17, a German migrant to the United States who took care of lepers and a Spanish nun who campaigned for women's rights.

Vatican watchers said the choice of the saints was linked to the Roman Catholic Church's efforts to highlight the need for a "new evangelisation" as church pews empty in Europe and the United States.

Tekakwitha, who was born in 1656 to an Algonquin mother and a Mohawk father, was converted by Jesuit missionaries as a child. After being left scarred and partially blind from smallpox and being orphaned, she earned a following for her deep spirituality before dying at just 24.

Tradition holds that her scars vanished at the time of her death -- considered a miracle that paved the way for her beatification in 1943.

Sainthood was assured when the pope certified a second miracle last year, the recovery of an 11-year-old Native American boy from flesh-eating bacteria after his parents prayed for divine intervention through Tekakwitha in 2006.

"She lived a life radiant with faith and purity," the pope said, adding that Tekakwitha should be a symbol of a renewal of faith among indigenous peoples.

For a many non-Catholic American Indians, her canonisation is seen as a gesture of reconciliation by the Church for past injustices.

The new canonisations bring to 44 the number of saints named by the pope since the start of his pontificate in 2005.

Catholic saints have to have two miracles to their names, which must be certified by the Vatican in a years-long procedure.

Budget Car Rental celebrating 50 years budget-minded service!

Explore Aruba in a Jeep wrangler hard top

Frederick, Lisette and Larry welcome you

Budget's head office is in Camacuri, not far from the airport, but they maintain an outlet right at the airport and another conveniently located in the Arawak Gardens in Palm Beach, an easy stroll from all the Palm Beach resorts. Budget will provide free transportation to their Arawak Gardens outlet from any hotel, and return you to your door when turning in your car.

A Toyota Yaris rents for $174 for the week; there is an additional airport concession fee to have a car available immediately on arrival, but this is balanced out by the cost of roundtrip fares to most resorts, and on weekly rentals is a decided savings.

Budget has become the world's third largest car rental franchise because of their commitment to quality service and product at the best price possible, and the staff of Budget Car Rental Aruba is equally dedicated to seeing their customers smile.

Healthy, tasty treats on the menu at Lecca Lecca

No foray to Oranjestad is complete without a stop to refresh and refuel at Lecca Lecca, the stylish "Gelato Shoppe" located right in the main bus terminal. This adorable eatery sports a menu that reflects the passion of its owner, Milly Lacle, for "healthy, natural foods, for a healthy body."

The idea of a sweet treat being good for you is contrary to everything we are being told today, but Milly did her homework before establishing her gelato and sorbetto factory on the second floor. Her recipes come from a respected gelato house in Italy, where they have been producing the refreshing, low or no fat product since the 1800's. She continues the tradition of using only fresh fruit juices and natural extracts to flavoring.

There are absolutely no artificial colorants or preservatives in the gelato and sorbetto, which is produced fresh daily; leftovers at the end of the day are donated to children's homes Casa Cuna or Imeldahoff. They have over 60 flavors on their roster with 18 available at the shop each day, including at least one sugar-free and one-gluten free for those with special dietary needs. All the gelato is made from organic milk flown in from Italy, guaranteed free of steroids and antibiotics.

Lecca Lecca pasteurizes the milk in their factory, to be sure there are no chemicals used in the process. The end product is whipped light and fluffy naturally, producing a satisfying treat drastically lower in fat, sugar and calories than traditional ice cream.

Unique flavors found nowhere else are a revelation. For a delightful surprise and pure refreshment, sample the grapefruit, passion fruit or carrot sorbetto; the rich, dark, sugar-free chocolate gelato is absolutely sinful, without the guilty conscience! They also have a unique collection of yogurt gelatos swirled with fresh fruit sorbetto in delightful combinations.

Lecca Lecca offers an attractive lunch menu including quiche made with only fresh vegetables, and sandwiches on crusty bread they prepare in their own bakery. Indulge in the soup of the day for a hearty sampling of authentic Aruban cooking.

Opened Monday through Saturday from 9:30 AM until 7:00 PM; it is a must do while in Oranjestad for a refreshing treat, with the emphasis on FRESH!

Gold Coast Aruba: Great savings for large families on holiday rentals

Aruba's newest and most innovative gated community has enjoyed steady sales since breaking ground, as many are finding the secure surroundings and outstanding amenities are just what they were looking for before considering purchasing property on the island. Some owners are using the villas or town homes as vacation retreats rather than full time and are taking advantage of Gold Coast's rental services to turn their investment into ready income.

"The greater portion of home owners are using their "home away from home" in Aruba to escape the winter months, or spend holidays with the family on the island," noted Gold Coast developer Fito Croes. To assist in the demand for more complete facilities for groups and families, famed hotelier Ed Malone has been placed in charge of the rental program.

Staying at Gold Coast is a very attractive proposition for those traveling with groups that would require multiple hotel rooms. Two and three bedroom Villas or Town Homes accommodate large numbers and offer extensive amenities along with a final cost resulting in considerable savings. The community is minutes to the best beaches and all the casino action, and offers a quiet and secluded getaway with two swimming pools and specialized services with more on the way, such as a fitness room, tennis courts and mini-mall. Ed can arrange maid service, babysitters, caterers, airline pick-up and drop-off; they even boast a shopping service to stock your shelves before arrival.

Gold Coast accommodations are elegant and spa-homes come with cable TV, high-speed fiber-optic Internet connection, individual washer/dryer, and are fully air-conditioned. Cribs, high chairs and hair dryers are available for a modest fee.

cious, offering privacy for parents or a few couples. Beautifully appointed kitchens and bathrooms grace each abode; barbecues and lounges are provided for friendly cookouts and truly savoring the island life. All Concierge services to arrange rental cars, spa appointments, activities and restaurant reservations are all part of the package.

Check-in for your holiday escape is conducted in the comfort of your vacation home, not while waiting on line at check-in desk. In every way, Gold Coast seeks to pamper their guests while providing them with the feeling of being in a cozy community, not the normally bustling resort, particularly experienced during the major holidays. If you wish an optimal vacation experience with great savings, visit their website: www.goldcoastaruba.com to get acquainted with the community and the layout, details and availability of accommodations, or call 586-2200 to talk personally to a Gold Coast representative.

Football:

MADRID (AFP) - Lionel Messi hit his 21st Barcelona hat-trick as his 10-man side edged a thrilling 5-4 victory at Deportivo La Coruna on Saturday.

Jordi Alba and Cristian Tello got the other goals for Barca, who had Javier Mascherano sent-off on 48 minutes, while a Pizzi double, a Alex Bergantinos strike and an Alba own goal kept the home side in the game.

The win means Barca go three points clear of Atletico Madrid, who is at the top of La Liga.

Messi now has 11 league goals, two more than Cristiano Ronaldo who earlier scored for Real Madrid in a 2-0 win over Celta Vigo that kept Madrid right points behind the Catalan side.

At other games: Valencia came from behind on two occasions to beat Athletic Bilbao 3-2, and Malaga came from behind to beat Valladolid with a hard earned 2-1 home victory to stay in third position.

While in Dortmund, Bayern Munich set a new Bundesliga record of eight straight wins but clashes in Dortmund, which saw 200 fans arrested after a wrecking spree, overshadowed the achievement.

Bayern hammered Fortuna Duesseldorf 5-0 to stay top.

It was also the 300th Bundesliga victory for coach Jupp Heynckes thanks to goals by Croatia's Mario Mandzukic, Brazil's Luiz Gustavo and Rafinha, plus two from Germany's Thomas Mueller.

Despite second-placed Eintracht Frankfurt and Schalke

04, third, also winning, Bayern remain five points clear at the top.

However, it was the violence-scarred 141st Ruhr derby between champions Borussia Dortmund and Schalke that dominated the headlines.

As well as the 200 arrests, eight police officers were hurt as fans went on the rampage.

Schalke won the game at the Signal Iduna Park stadium, which was an 80,000-sell-out, 2-1.

Dortmund fans demolished a restaurant near the ground and a police vehicle was also damaged as home fans pelted officers with paving stones, a police spokesman said.

A group of 600 Schalke fans was also attacked by masked Dortmund supporters armed with bottles and paint bombs when they arrived at the stadium.

More than 1,000 police officers were deployed for the game, twice as many as are on duty for a normal Bundesliga game.

Other games: Bremen claimed only their third win this season as they hammered Moenchengladbach 4-0 to leave Bremen ninth in the table and 'Gladbach 12th with just two wins.

Frankfurt enjoyed their sixth win with a 3-1 win at home to Hanover having scored two goals after only 18 minutes through Algeria midfielder Karim Matmour and defender Sebastian Jung.

Freiburg enjoyed a 2-0 win at Wolfsburg to leave the 2009 champions bottom of the table while Bayer Leverkusen move up to fifth after their drew 2-2 at home to Mainz.

On Friday, Hoffenheim drew 3-3 with Greuther Fuerth while on Sunday, Nuremberg are home to Augsburg and Stuttgart are at Hamburg.

MEDELLIN (AFP) : Participants compete during the Mr Antioquia Bodybuilding and Fitness Championship in Medellin, Antioquia department, Colombia on October 20, 2012. HONG KONG (AFP) - Some 1800 swimmers braved Hong Kong's choppy waters on Sunday to compete in the challenging annual harbour race across one of the world's most famous and busiest waterways. Swimming enthusiasts from the ages of 12 to 78 took part in the 1.5 kilometre (0.9 mile) Victoria Harbour race which returned last year after a 33-year suspension. Swimmers dashed between the eastern points of the Kowloon peninsula and Hong Kong Island against a stunning backdrop of towering skyscrapers and sharp peaks, replacing the normal harbour traffic of ferries and cargo boats. The winner of last year's event, 19-year-old Ling Tin-yu, repeated his success with a winning time of 16 minutes and 57 seconds. The annual race, which was revived in 2011 due to popular demand, is a tradition which attracted hundreds of swimmers and thousands of spectators dating back to 1906. The event was halted in 1978 due to a deterioration in water quality, but HKASA said they did not receive any complaints about pollution from the 1,000 competitors of last year's race. Organisers added that the route was cleaned before the competition started.

Boxing Results:

BROOKLYN (AFP) - US southpaw Devon Alexander took the International Boxing Federation welterweight crown on Saturday with a unanimous 12-round decision over compatriot Randall Bailey.

Alexander dominated from the start, opening a cut over Bailey's right eye in the 10th round, and winning by judges' scores of 115-111, 116-110 and 117-109.

Former junior welterweight champion Alexander improved to 24-1 while Bailey fell to 43-8 in the leadoff title bout on the first fight card at the new $1 billion Barclays Center, home of the NBA Nets after their move from New Jersey.

The fight was the first major bout in Brooklyn since August 5, 1931, when Max Rosenbloom beat Jimmy Slattery to retain the light heavyweight world title at Ebbets Field, the since-demolished home of baseball's Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bailey, 38, and Alexander, 25, had been due to fight on September 8 but Bailey hurt his back in training a week before the bout and it was postponed.

While Hometown hero Peter Quillin knocked down France's Hassan N'Dam six times, twice in the final round to win a battle of unbeatens for the World Boxing Organization middleweight title.

Cuban-American Quillin, who had never been past the 10th round in his career, won a unanimous decision by scores of 115-107 from all three judges, improving to 28-0 while N'Dam, a Cameroonian-born Frenchman, fell to 27-1.

"I hope I inspired people that hard work can get you anywhere in life," said Quillin. "I'm very happy with this moment. I'm glad to be a world champion."

Brooklyn-born Quillin, a 29-year-old nicknamed "Kid Chocolate," sent N'Dam down twice in the fourth, sixth and 12th rounds in the first world title fight without an interim tag for the Frenchman.

Hometown hero Paulie Malignaggi edged Mexico's Pablo Cesar Cano by split decision in what was to have been a title defense for the World Boxing Association welterweight champion.

Malignaggi won 114-113 on two judges' scorecards to claim the victory even though the third judge saw Cano as a 118-109 winner.

The narrow victory margin surprised Malignaggi even though Cano sent him to the canvas with a hard right to the jaw late in the 11th round.

Malignaggi said he was interested in fighting Britain's Ricky Hatton if the Englishman should win his scheduled comeback fight in November against Vyacheslav Senchenko. Hatton stopped Malignaggi in the 11th round in a 2008 bout.

And Unbeaten Danny Garcia stopped Erik Morales with a powerful left hook in the fourth round on Saturday to retain the World Boxing Association and World Boxing Council light welterweight titles.

Garcia's punishing left hand spun Morales and sent him falling onto the bottom rope of the ring on his back.

When a Morales cornerman climbed into the ring, referee Benji Esteves stopped the fight 83 seconds into the fourth round.

Garcia improved to 25-0 with his 16th early stoppage, dropping Morales to 52-9, and thanked his mom for the winning punch.

The Red Sox officially announced their deal with new manager John Farrell

--Farrell received a three-year contract. As compensation to the Blue Jays, to whom Farrell was under contract through 2013, the Red Sox sent shortstop Mike Aviles and received righthander David Carpenter.

The Red Sox said that they received permission to speak with Farrell and came to an agreement with him on Saturday night. Farrell was the Red Sox pitching coach from 2007-10 before becoming manager of the Jays for two seasons. He is the seventh manager in major league history acquired by one club while under contract to another.

Carpenter, 27, has struck out 60 in 60 innings over 67 career major league games, all in relief, with the Astros (2011-12) and Blue Jays (2012). He is 1-5 with one save and a 5.70 ERA in his big league career.

He appeared in 33 major league games in 2012, including 30 with the Astros prior to being sent to the Blue Jays in a 10-player trade July 20. He also pitched in 23 Triple A games for Oklahoma City and Las Vegas, going 1-1 with four saves, a 3.08 ERA, 25 strikeouts and only seven walks in 26.1 innings.

Originally a catcher, Carpenter converted to pitching midway through the 2008 season. Since that time, he has averaged 9.56 strikeouts per nine innings pitched in 178 career minor league games, all in relief.

Football: Messi bears down on Pele, Mueller goal marks

MADRID (AFP) - Lionel Messi's hat-trick in Barcelona's 5-4 tightrope walk of a win over Deportivo La Coruna has brought the forward closer to beating Pele and Gerd Mueller's all-time calendar marks of 75 and 85 goals respectively.

Messi has now scored 71 goals in 2012, meaning that by his standards he is only a couple of games away from surpassing Pele's 1959 tally of 75 for Santos and Brazil, Catalan daily El Mundo Deportivo pointed out Sunday on its website.

"Messi now has 71 goals, 12 of those for Argentina, and has another eight weeks to boost the tally," the paper noted.

"Everything therefore points to him beating 'O Rei' ('king') Pele) and maybe also Mueller, who in 1972 .... piled up 85 with Bayern and the German national side," the Barcelona daily continued.

Messi, also looking for a fourth world footballer of the year award, has already set a new Barcelona record in scoring 59 goals already in 2012 this year - one more than his total in 2010.

He has also managed 15 league hat-tricks for Barca, with Saturday's effort moving him ahead of legendary former star Cesar.

A further two trebles in the Spanish Cup, three more in the Champions League and one in the Spanish Supercup mean he has 21 overall for his club.
